Large Scholarship Plan Offered By Hotelmen

The largest and broadest scholarship plan ever offered to Albertans was outlined Tuesday by A. G. Swinerton of Fort Macleod, Alberta Hotel Association president. Designed to assist several students annually, the program is sponsored by the licensed hotelmen of the province, through the association. Mr. Swinerton revealed details of the plan during his presidential address at the AHA 32nd annual convention at Edmonton.

Mr. Swinerton said that $15,000 would be available for scholarships this year. He added that the amount to be spent annually in future years would be double the amount spent on this year's inaugural scholarships.

Financial assistance to worthy students who otherwise would be deprived of their annual advanced education is provided by the program. A feature of the Alberta Hotel Association's Scholarship Plan is the fact that it will not be confined to university courses. For example scholarships may be granted to those pursuing the fields of agriculture, oil, forestry, mechanics, dress-making, nursing, teaching and other vocations.

The first AHA Scholarships will be awarded following release of Grade XII departmental examinations. This year all scholarships will be tenable at the University of Alberta but this will not be the policy for future years.

More than 1,700 blind Canadians are employed full time in industry and commerce.

THE LIGHTER SIDE

One Way To Do It
Junior was a little terror, the scourge of his home and the neighborhood, so Papa was understandably surprised when Mama suggested they buy him a bicycle. "Do you think it will improve his behavior?" inquired Papa. "No," answered Mama grimly, "but it might spread his meanness over a larger area."

A Real Surprise
A famous author was autographing copies of his new novel in a large department store. One gentleman pleased him by bringing not only his new book for signature, but reprint editions of the author's two previous works as well.

"My wife likes your stuff," he remarked rather apologetically, "so I thought I'd give her these signed copies for a birthday present."

"A surprise, eh?" hazarded the author.

"I'll say," agreed the customer. "She's expecting a mink coat."

Country Wit

The city slicker halted his car at a desolate crossroads and yelled to a farmer driving a load of hay: "Hey, Cornsilk, is this the way to Chicago?"

The farmer looked up in feigned astonishment. "By gum, stranger, how'd ye know my name was cornsilk?"

"I guessed it," answered the slicker.

"Then by heck," snapped the farmer, "guess your way to Chicago!"

Carry On!

One sunny afternoon two silent lanky mountaineers met on a wooded trail. One stared at the other with a puzzled expression and inquired:

"Look here, David, what do you mean by shooting at me? I ain't got no quarrel with you."

"You had a feud with Abe Gordon, didn't you?" asked the other.

"Sure, but Abe's dead."

"Well," was the stern reply, "I'm his executor."

Alberta Lawyers To Argue Appeal

Five Alberta lawyers will travel to London some time in June, but it won't be a pleasure trip.

All will appear before the Privy Council about June 30 to argue a legal case of the utmost importance to Alberta oil men.

The four Calgary lawyers are H. G. Nolan, Q.C., Harold W. Riley, Q.C., S. J. Helman, Q.C., and D. Rae Fisher. George Steer, Q.C., of Edmonton, will round out the group.

The appeal arises from the recent Alberta Supreme Court 4-1 decision that the Canadian Pacific Railway Co. and Imperial Oil Ltd., were entitled to use the natural gas belonging to Michael Borys in removing their petroleum from under his 160-acre farm in the Leduc oilfield.

Since the suit was started before appeals to the Privy Council were abolished in Canada, the Supreme Court of Canada has been by-passed.

Spring Horse Show

Unqualified approval of a job well done must be accorded Mr. C. W. Ross and his executive who so ably put on the 1952 Edmonton Spring Horse Show. At a time when horses for utility and work are fast becoming a thing of the past on our farms, it is nevertheless re-assuring to know that lovers of good "horseflesh" are able to put on such an outstanding show.

Grant McEwan, of the University of Manitoba, announced that in at least one class, Saddle Pairs, all entries were so well matched and of such a high standard that it was extremely difficult to make selection of prize winners.

It is unfortunate that more farmers of Northern Alberta did not know of the Spring Horse Show but we understand that this weakness in advance publicity will be corrected next year. Generally speaking, few farmers at this time of year subscribe to a daily paper and few have time to spend long hours listening to the radio. Officials of the Northern Alberta Light Horse Society should try to fill in the gap another year by co-operating with the weekly press, which serves rural Alberta, on advertising and publicity.

New Yacht for the Queen

The British have decided to build the royal family a new yacht. The present royal yacht was built for Queen Victoria, and has lain for years in Portsmouth harbor, condemned as "unseaworthy" by the Admiralty.

The new royal yacht will be a four thousand ton, twenty-one-knot, fifty-five beam craft. It will cost about three million dollars and will be convertible to a hospital ship in time of war.

Britain has always provided its rulers with adequate seagoing transportation but in recent years this tradition has been neglected. King George VI was the first ruling monarch in three centuries who did not own a seagoing yacht. Charles II had twenty-six yachts. Queen Victoria had eight built during her sixty-four year reign. In England a royal yacht is not considered a luxury but a necessity. And since the Duke of Edinburgh served with the Royal Navy in the last war as a Lieutenant, in command of the frigate Magpie, it is altogether fitting that the Royal couple enjoy a royal yacht — at least that is how the British Conservative Government feels about it.

Irrigation Possibilities

Nearly 30 per cent of the earth's land area, or about 9 billion acres, is arid or desert soil. Only about 100 million acres of this, less than 1 per cent, are presently irrigated. An additional 200 million acres can be put "under the ditch."

The above information was given in an address by Dr. Charles E. Kellogg, chief of the United States soil survey division, at the international conference on desert irrigation held in Jerusalem.

Dr. Kellogg pointed out that soil scientists have hitherto been unable to study arid soils located far away from population centres. In his opinion many teams of experts will be needed to make any progress in this new and untouched field. Unless soil irrigation projects are carefully picked, a lot of money and effort will be wasted.

Swine Production Booklet

The federal department of agriculture has just issued a revised edition of the pamphlet "Swine Production," copies of which are obtainable from district agriculturalists' offices, or by writing to the Lacombe experimental station, where the booklet was prepared. Giving up-to-date information on the feeding, care and management of swine, this pamphlet should be read by all hog producers.

The Church and the Gospel

By T. W. PUE

Speeches given at the recent United Church Conference in Lethbridge would indicate that several Church leaders are not satisfied with the work being done by the Church. I wonder if in considering the "work" of the Church, church leaders of today are feeling any real satisfaction with the message being delivered from the pulpits, Sunday by Sunday, in our present day churches.

It is possible for a person to attend church from the day of their christening to the day of their death, and never know the fundamental purpose for the church's existence.

Many of our present day preachers and ministers are like John Wesley, who, born and brought up in the atmosphere of the Church of England of the early eighteenth century, became a renowned preacher of great eloquence, acceptable to any pulpit in London. But that was before John Wesley found that he had the form of Christian faith only and not the substance.

T. W. Pue

Wesley found, after a missionary trip to America and a meeting-up with a small group of German Moravian Christians that he was not converted, not saved, not born again.

But John Wesley, like the Prodigal son, did indeed come to a knowledge of his soul's lost condition and after years of formal Christianity took on the very substance in a right-about-face conversion and joyfully sprang to the task of preaching his new-found gospel in the old familiar pulpits.

If any argument was required to prove John Wesley was a new man "born again" it is this: that his old church associates didn't want him preaching the gospel of salvation in their churches! So the veteran preacher, but new convert had to go out into the "highways and byways" of England to preach to the unchurched common people of England. And from that began the great Methodist movement that brought in its wake not only the great spiritual changes but also the social revolutions of the 18th and 19th centuries.

NEEDED: A 1952 WESLEY

Travellers from England these days report that the gospel of salvation through the vicarious sufferings of Christ is now being preached in the "low" Church of England, but not the "high." Present-day Methodists and Baptists seem to avoid preaching it today in England as so many of them do here in Canada. It is unusual to hear a Baptist or United Church Minister tell their congregation that they have to accept the Lord Jesus as their personal saviour if they are to gain Everlasting Life.

It is not difficult, therefore, to understand what happened in the life of Elva Sherwin, wife of Richard W. Sherwin, Edmonton contractor, who died recently in Philadelphia and was buried in Edmonton.

At the funeral service, the minister recounted how, having lived most of her life in the atmosphere of the Christian church, she, with her husband, found one day they were both lacking in the vital factor—spiritual re-birth—and how this important event in her life changed her for time and eternity.

She was first baptized in the Church of Christ at Hanna at the age of 14. Along with her husband she experienced a new birth of spirit at the Beulah Tabernacle in Edmonton in the spring of 1949. This quickening of her inner life brought unhesitant commitment to Christ as her personal Saviour and Lord of Life. From that time she walked more closely with God, had more definite purpose in living, and experienced a deeper joy which was apparent to her friends and loved ones. Thus, as her "outer nature" was wasting, her "inner nature" was being renewed day by day.

Is there a John Wesley in Alberta to sound the clarion call of the Gospel of Jesus Christ to re-awaken Albertans, religious and irreligious alike, to find the Saviour as Elva Sherwin did?

Note and Comment

A farmer in Craig County, Oklahoma, which pays a bounty for every wolf killed, made no attempt — despite frequent opportunities — to kill a wolf that lived on his property and constantly raided local chicken coops. Finally his neighbors demanded to know why.

"Well," he explained, "I got bounties off her nine pups this spring and bounties off her seven last year. Guess I'm just too soft-hearted, thinking of a mother and her young."

WHY NOT PAINT A CLEAR PICTURE?

(From the Camrose Canadian)

There is a group of people who are trying to confuse the rural bones of its inability to construct electrification picture in Alberta. They are undoubtedly sincere in their desire to make the utility a publicly owned affair. They use comparisons between Alberta and Manitoba and between Alberta and Saskatchewan to entice the Alberta farmers under their wing.

It is true that Manitoba builds the lines direct to the farm to be served and that there are 27,000 farms already electrified in Manitoba. It is also true that the Manitoba Power Commission owes the Provincial Government the sum of $35,000,000 with an additional $10,000,000 under authorization and not yet expended. This part of the story is never mentioned from the public platform.

And another thing, Manitoba has had a surplus of power since 1910 and has been in the rural electrification picture for twenty years. Likewise, the Saskatchewan Power Commission owes the Saskatchewan Provincial Government $41,000,000.

This province has made no free rural lines to farm premises. Saskatchewan is not so fortunately situated as either Manitoba or Alberta in the matter of power resources. She has few hydro potentials near to present centres of population. Should Alberta decide to make power a publicly-owned utility at the present time, the Province would be required to assume an additional bonded indebtedness of $100,000,000. As far as rates go at the present time, Alberta customers enjoy rates as low as Manitoba and lower than Saskatchewan and are not carrying any of the bonded indebtedness as an indirect charge against the utility.

Another interesting feature of the argument is that Manitoba's 27,000 rural installations are confined within a geographical area of less than one-third the area in Alberta from the Edmonton district south to the international border, eliminating the Peace River area entirely.

Voice of the People

ONE WAR IS ENOUGH

This was true in 1946, and is more true today.

Technocracy has always realized that war will be popular as long as the Price System exists. War brings Price System prosperity. World War II produced the greatest profits in history. In the release "Sanctified Salvation", August 31, 1944, Continental Headquarters of Technocracy Inc., stated:

"Amid the Hollywood glamourizing of this price system of ours and the too, too wonderful results of free enterprise in winning everything from the soap derby to the war, one great irony hits us in the face in the midst of our lush prosperity. Only during a total world war has the Price System of U. S. and Canada, with all its slobbering inefficiencies, approached full employment and prosperous living conditions. This startling fact must be apparent to every American today that only under a world war can our government spend hundreds of billions of dollars, and only if our government can continue to spend hundreds of billions of dollars can we, as a nation, continue to purchase apparent full employment and apparent prosperity. Only during a world war has the Price System of this North America been able to offer the glittering bribery to almost every segment of the national structure, a bribery so attractive that it seduces all citizens into the rapturous acceptance of more of the same, of more wages for the worker, greater salaries for the employed, higher prices for the farmer, more customers for corporate enterprise, and more and better rackets to create more delinquents..."

Under the Price System, men like war because it brings material benefits, with or without risk. What many persons apparently do not realize is that, with the advent of the atomic bomb, war has become too dangerous—every region of the world becomes a potential battlefield and every citizen is engaged.

In an article "One War Is Enough," (Atlantic Monthly, February, 1946) a veteran of forty months of war duty blasts the apathetic attitude of today:

"Probably I shall be tagged as a psychoneurotic veteran of too much bloodshed when I say that I get alternately fighting mad and cold sick inside whenever I hear people talk about the next war. I cannot understand how they can be resigned to the prospects of another global conflict, so casual in their assumption that wars are inevitable, so damnably aware of the consequences of their current complacency.

"Has everyone in this country lost faith in peace? Here we stand on the threshold of what could be a new and better world, and our fainthearted citizenry insists upon looking backward and muttering that what has always been must be..."

If the people of North America remain in their present state of torpor at the approach of war, like birds hypnotized by a snake, they will surely be consumed.

Today on this continent only Technocracy stands firmly against the drift toward war. All other organizations are part and parcel of the Price System—the system that cannot exist much longer in time of peace.

Operating under the rules of the Price System game, our political and business leaders have been guilty of technological sabotage for many years. And today those who conspire to wage war to perpetuate an outworn system are guilty of technological treason. Judgment will be made by the historical march of events, and the blame will lie equally on all who meekly permit our technological heritage to be sold out to Mars and Mammon.

REPLY TO L. DeGROFF

I see that you have changed the subject and are now discussing my inability, lack of grammar and such; you also complain of wasting your time, well you sure are (yours and mine too) because I am not interested in your opinion of me personally.

Since you rate as one of the intelligent residents of our town I am disappointed to see that you do not always act as such. I see it is no use to mention your poems since you are always changing your mind about their meaning.

2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup shortening

Cream shortening with 1/2 cup sugar and unbeaten egg yolks until fluffy. Add sifted dry ingredients and milk alternately in small amounts, beating well after each addition. Add apple. LETTERS TO LOUISA

Dear Louisa:-

I am a girl of 14 in the 9th grade and am having some trouble deciding whom I should like.

A is a boy I have known all my life, of nice people and has always been so good to me. B came along and I started liking him a lot. He is better looking, has lovely manners and is of nice people but doesn't want me to like anyone else.

Should I drop A or B? I would like to like, both but it seems as if I can't.

PUZZLED.

ANSWER:

Really, Puzzled, I think it is a mistake for a girl as young as you to drop all her boy friends but one.

If they break up later on, it is more difficult for her to take up where she left off than for him.

I know, however, that in many communities this custom of going steady begins at an early age and its only advantage is that the girl always knows she has a date for all important social functions.

Why don't you explain to B that A has been a friend of yours for so long that you just can't drop him but that you will have more dates with B than with A? This may help.

Alex Latta Limited Adds New Major Line

With this new appointment by Dominion Oxygen Company Limited Alex Latta Limited now offers one of the most complete welding and cutting equipment supply services in Alberta.

He Loved Sea But She Didn't

LOS ANGELES—A merchant marine captain who can't stand living ashore and a wife who can't take life at sea make a poor marital combination, Superior Judge Orlando Rhodes agreed.

He awarded a divorce to Mrs. Sophie Proamos Fafalios 39, of Hermosa Beach, when she testified that her years at sea with Fafalios had, in effect, sent her love for him awash.

Married in 1945 to Stavos L. Fafalios, 36, then a first mate on a freighter, she tried living aboard ship for two years as the only woman among 48 men.

Mrs. Fafalios said she couldn't eat the food, had no one to talk to and couldn't stand the changes of climate in 14 different countries they visited.

She finally persuaded her husband to settle down at Hermosa Beach, she said, but after a year as a landlubber he announced he had had enough and wanted to go back to sea.

Here is one of my embarrassing moments.

Some of my friends and I attended a dance quite far from home. Everyone was a stranger to us but I thought I recognized one girl but couldn't get to talk to her. While dancing she happened to be near me so I decided to speak to her. In doing this I hit her rather hard on the shoulder and, to my surprise, who turns and faces me but an elderly lady! I barely whispered "I'm Sorry."

DISAPPOINTED.

How Do You Conserve Soil?
The greatest extravagance of the people of Western Canada today is the needless waste of the country's land and water resources. Extravagance means living beyond one's means—and we have been doing exactly that with respect to our prairie topsoil. Unless we prevent this extravagance, which is reducing each year the productivity of millions of acres of fertile farm land, Western Canada will eventually become one of the "have-not" countries of the world. By proper land use we can, if we will, protect and conserve our soils.

Things That Can Be Done. Here are some of the things every farmer in Western Canada can do this year—no, not next year, this year—to conserve topsoil: (1) Use suitable, approved erosion-control practices to stop washing and blowing. (2) Stop excessive cultivation of land that washes or blows easily. (3) Use tillage, stubble-mulching (trash cover), and other cropping practices to protect the soil and save rainfall. (4) Hold the rain that falls on the land for the use of crops, grasses, trees, livestock, and for other purposes. (5) Use manure and fertilizer where needed, in the right amounts and at the right time. (6) Plant grasses or legumes on areas too steep or shallow to cultivate profitably. (7) Eliminate over-grazing when grass is thin and short by practicing controlled or rotational grazing. (8) Improve native pastures and planted grasslands through better management. (9) Plan and use a well-balanced cropping program, which includes grasses and legumes.

Saving the Soil. According to Dr. Hugh H. Bennett, the father of the soil conservation movement of the United States, these and other sound farming practices, which protect the land and increase production, are the real tools of soil conservation. Through their continual use prairie farmers can save their topsoil. Use them yourself—encourage your neighbors to practice soil conservation measures in 1952.

Needlecraft News

by Pauline Roy

"HOME IS where the heart is" and a beautiful home is the background of all we have. We use it, live in it and love it. Sometimes the house is all dressed up when Mother takes out her best linen and china and puts flowers and candles on the table. Then the whole atmosphere is luxurious.

We feel we must use our best manners too because it really is an occasion, and we are going to enjoy it to the limit. At this time she usually makes party food and, of course, that is another treat. Many a youngster has staggered from the birthday table all filled up and left with a warm happy feeling. Birthdays are synonymous with parties and parties mean ice cream and cake.

Watching It Grow

A lace tablecloth lends the beauty and distinction we all love and admire. It is easy to make and grows rapidly, one square at a time, and first thing you know you have the banquet cloth you desire. You also have the proud feeling of having made it yourself. In many patterns, you can join several medallions (square motifs) are particularly good for this) until you have enough to form an individual place mat. As your number grows you can use them. When you have made enough, you can join them all together to make a tea cloth. A row of squares can be added until you have the cloth the size you planned, and at the same time, you can have the pleasure of using your work as you go along.

Irish Crochet

Irish crochet is one of the prettiest of all crochet patterns. It is rich and elegant, and looks lovely on any table. It adds greatly to your home and will give you a lifetime of pleasure. If you wish to make this IRISH CROCHET TABLECLOTH, a direction leaflet is available. Just send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to this paper and ask for Leaflet No. 7486.

June 13 School, Farmers' Holiday

LAC LA BICHE—The second Friday in June, which falls on June 13 of this year, has been declared a school holiday by His Honor, the Lieutenant-Governor and shall be observed as Farmers' Holiday.

The Lac la Biche Students' Union has decided to have a banquet for the graduating class of 1952 and a semi-formal dance. There will be no invitations sent for the dance as in previous years and all are welcome.

On Tuesday of last week Miss Grant, on behalf of the Junior Red Cross, visited the Dr. Swift School and spoke to the high school students about the summer school classes held in Jasper for training in leadership. She urged that two members from the Students' Union be sent to this school during the last week of August.

Miss Olga Chwedoruk has returned to Lac la Biche after spending a few days with her parents in Craigend.

Following the massacre of General Custer and his cavalry, Chief Sitting Bull and his Sioux warriors spent six years in refuge in Canada.

Modern Pioneers

Move Into

Central B.C.

TERRACE, B.C. — (BUP)—

Latter-day pioneers are flocking to this town 60 miles inland from Prince Rupert, and they are made of the same stern stuff as their forebears who settled the north. The Columbia Cellulose Company's new pulp and timber project, the Aluminum Company of Canada's development on the coast and the opening of the Peace River district's first oil well require settlers.

Jim Rose, and his wife, Mary, who moved here from Wells, B.C., are typical of those who are answering the call.

They arrived on a Thursday, Friday afternoon Jim got a job with Columbia Cellulose.

That same afternoon he bought an acre of ground on the edge of town.
